

X1 Desktop Search Available in AWS Marketplace for Desktop Apps
X1's Best-in-Class Desktop Search Available for Amazon Web Services WorkSpaces

PASADENA, Calif. –(April 14, 2015)—X1, a leading enterprise search software company supporting the cloud and the enterprise, today announced the availability of X1 Search in AWS Marketplace for Desktop Apps on Amazon WorkSpaces. Amazon WorkSpaces, a managed desktop computing service, allows customers to easily provision cloud-based desktops and allow end-users to access documents, applications and resources on the device of their choice, including laptops, iPad, Kindle Fire, Android tablets and zero clients. AWS Marketplace for Desktop Apps streamlines the purchase of applications like X1 that increase customer productivity by searching for the right content on demand. Purchased on a monthly-subscription basis, X1 Search allows customers to easily search their virtual desktop and other cloud sources. X1 offers fast-as-you-type search results, a unified interface for email, files, SharePoint, and other enterprise content, as well as contextual post-search actions.

X1 Search provides users the ability to search a single, unified interface for content that may live in diverse locations – email, files, even SharePoint. With X1's single-pane-of-glass view of this content, workers can quickly find the information no matter where it lives.

“With AWS Marketplace for Desktop Apps, customers can easily find and purchase a broad range of desktop applications that help organizations be more productive. The X1 Search application offers customers fast access to the information they need. We are delighted that X1 is available for our customers in AWS Marketplace for Desktop Apps,” says Dave McCann, Vice President, AWS Marketplace, Amazon Web Services, Inc.

According to John Patzakis, CEO of X1, Search in AWS Marketplace for Desktop Apps is a great option for a broader enterprise search solution within AWS. “Amazon WorkSpaces provides a high-value desktop experience to customers, and that experience is enhanced with streamlined procurement of cloud-enabled search tool like X1 Search via AWS Marketplace for Desktop Apps. In addition, X1's Rapid Discovery enables broader enterprise search -- from a unified interface -- and eDiscovery on AWS.”
